CHRISTIAN ARCHAEOLOGY PRACTICAL COURSE: THE BASILICA OF SON PERETÓ (MANACOR - BALEARIC ISLANDS - SPAIN)

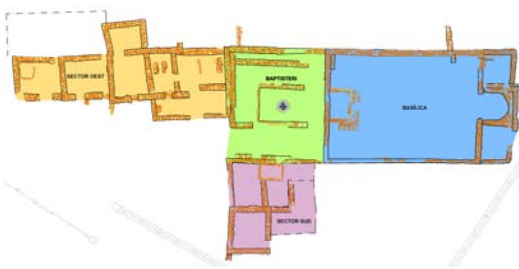

ATENEU UNIVERSITARI
SANT PACIÀ

ATENEU UNIVERSITARI SANT PACIÀ
FACULTAT ANTONI GAUDÍ
D'HISTÒRIA, ARQUEOLOGIA
I ARTS CRISTIANES

This course is designed to teach its participants the basic archaeological excavation methodology and documentation of the archaeological record, as well as to work with the most characteristic artefacts found around the 4th to 8th centuries AD at the Western Mediterranean. The Christian community that inhabited the territory of Son Peretó will also be examined, including its religious buildings, their lives and death, the economy, as well as their domestic and commercial activities.

The fieldwork will be carried out at the archaeological site of Son Peretó, one of the most important within the Balearic Islands.

Laboratory work and lectures will be held at the History Museum of Manacor, where most of the artefacts unearthed at the Son Peretó excavation are kept.
